

A promotional image for the Dandy Gala. Five men, two Black and three white, are seated around a small round table on a city sidewalk at dusk. They are all wearing tailored suits and smoking cigars. The table is set with several cocktails in martini and lowball glasses, along with a carafe and lit candles. In the background, a building with the name 'CLASSARO' is visible, and the warm glow of the setting sun illuminates the scene.

A photograph of two women, one Black and one white, both dressed in formal black tuxedos with white shirts and black bow ties. They are wearing hats: the Black woman a black fedora and the white woman a white fedora with a black band. They are both smiling broadly and holding martini glasses. The Black woman's glass contains a green olive. The background is softly blurred, suggesting an elegant interior setting.
